- (b) barren cows;
- (c) steers over 250 kg live weight or a live weight determined by the Chief Inspector having regard to market conditions;

- (d) herd bulls not considered to be ordinarily capable of breeding;
  - (e) herd bulls 8 years of age or older; and
  - (f) herd bulls in sound condition and younger than 8 years of age where, if the number of bulls in the herd in this category exceeds 7% of the number of sound breeding cows in the herd, the owner selects the particular bulls in excess of 7% to be turned off.

panel means a valuation panel appointed under section 33(1) of the Act.

selling costs include the cattle transaction levy imposed under the Cattle Transaction Levy Act 1990 of the Commonwealth;

- (2) The owner or the Chief Inspector must muster or cause to be mustered the cattle, or a representative portion of the cattle, for which compensation is to be determined by a panel.
- (2A) A panel must not, in respect of cattle mustered under subregulation (2), take account of:
  - (a) cattle which would be subject to normal turnoff; or
  - (b) cattle which have no commercial value.
- (4) Subject to this regulation, compensation is to be determined as being the on-farm value of each head of cattle, valued as if it were disease free and as it stands in the yard on the day of valuation, taking into account its age, sex, breed, body condition, liveweight and other matters relevant to its class including, in the case of herd bulls, the matters in subregulation (4A) but, where transport and selling costs would otherwise have been likely to have been incurred, deducting from that value an amount representing those costs.
- (4A) Herd bulls 3 years of age and older that are not subject to normal turnoff are to be valued as follows:
  - (a) determine the value of each bull as if it were a 3 year old member of its class, thereby giving a notional breeding value (NBV);
  - (b) determine the current meat works value of the actual bull at its actual age (CMV);

- (c) calculate a conversion factor (CF) to take into account the age of the bull, in accordance with the following formula:

$$CF = \frac{NBV - CMV}{5}$$

where NBV is the notional breeding value determined under paragraph (a); and

CMV is the current meat works value determined under paragraph (b); and

- (d) determine the final value (FV) of the bull in accordance with the following formula:

$$$FV = NBV - [(A - 3) \times CF]$$

where NBV is the notional breeding value determined under paragraph (a);

A is the age of the bull rounded up to the next highest whole number; and

CF is the conversion factor calculated under paragraph (c).

- (4B) In determining compensation for cattle, members of a panel must:
- (a) use an approved valuation form;
  - (b) complete the approved valuation form in accordance with any directions on it;
  - (c) if a head of stock is valued at more than $1 800, reduced the value to a maximum of $1 800;
  - (d) except as provided in subregulation (6), not use a previous valuation under this regulation as a reference or a basis for any other valuation; and
  - (e) where there is more than one reference market for cattle, use the nearest.
- (5) In making their determination, members of a panel should:
- (a) work independently until each has completed the valuation;
  - (b) after completion, discuss the valuations until a consensus or majority agreement is reached, or a consensus or majority agreement appears unlikely to be reached; and

- (c) sign an agreed determination, with or without dissenting views, and deliver it to the Chief Inspector or the Chief Inspector's nominee.
- (6) Where a panel determines the compensation payable for cattle, that determination may, without new valuations but with the agreement of the owner of the cattle, determine the compensation payable in respect of cattle of a similar class taken from the holding or part of the holding from which the originally valued cattle were taken.
