13 Notes and other matters for corresponding laws

- (1) A note in the text in this Act is sometimes used to indicate why the language in this Act may be different to the language used in a corresponding law.

Example for subsection (1)

A reference to this Act includes, for example, a regulation made or in force under this Act because of section 17 of the Interpretation Act. Section 17 of that Act includes the following definition:

this Act includes a statutory instrument under the Act in which the expression occurs.*

- (2) For corresponding laws, the following are defined:
 - (a) rail safety law means this Act;
 - (b) Rail Safety Regulator means the Director.

Note for subsection (2)

A corresponding law may use the terms "corresponding rail safety law" and "corresponding Rail Safety Regulator". The definitions in subsection (2) are for the purposes of those definitions even though in this Act the terms "rail safety law" and "Rail Safety Regulator" are not used. Instead, "this Act" and "Director" are used.

14 Application of Criminal Code

Part IIAA of the Criminal Code applies to an offence against this Act.

Note for section 14

Part IIAA of the Criminal Code sets out the general principles of criminal responsibility, establishes general defences, and deals with burden of proof. It also defines, or elaborates on, certain concepts commonly used in the creation of offences.

Part 2 Occupational health and safety legislation

15 Act adds to protection provided by OHS legislation

If a provision of the occupational health and safety legislation applies to railway operations, the provision continues to apply, and must be observed, in addition to this Act.

16 OHS legislation prevails

If a provision of this Act is inconsistent with a provision of the occupational health and safety legislation, the provision of the occupational health and safety legislation prevails to the extent of the inconsistency.

Note for section 16

If a provision of this Act deals with a certain matter and a provision of the occupational health and safety legislation deals with the same matter and it is impossible to comply with both provisions, a person must comply with the occupational health and safety legislation and not with this Act. If provisions of both the occupational health and safety legislation and this Act deal with the same matter but it is possible to comply with both provisions, a person must comply with both laws.

17 Compliance with Act no defence to prosecution under OHS legislation

Compliance with this Act, or with any requirement imposed under this Act, is not in itself a defence in any proceedings for an offence against the occupational health and safety legislation.

Example for section 17

A person may be guilty of an offence under the occupational health and safety legislation for an act or omission that is expressly required or permitted to be done or omitted under this Act.

18 Relationship between duties under Act and OHS legislation

Subject to any express provisions to the contrary, evidence of a relevant contravention of this Act is admissible in any proceedings for an offence against the occupational health and safety legislation.

Note for section 18

Part 3 Rail safety

Division 1 General safety duties

20 Duty of rail transport operator to ensure safety

- (1) A rail transport operator must ensure the safety of the operator's railway operations.

Note for subsection (1)

See section 12 for an explanation of what is required in ensuring safety.

- (2) The duty of a rail transport operator under subsection (1) in relation to matters over which the operator has control (or would have control if not for an agreement purporting to limit or remove the control) extends to a contractor and an employee of the contractor.

- (3) Without limiting subsection (1), a rail transport operator contravenes the subsection if the operator does not do one or more of the following:

- (a) develop and implement, so far as is reasonably practicable, safe systems for the carrying out of the operator's railway operations;

- (b) ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, each rail safety worker who performs rail safety work in relation to the operator's railway operations:

- (i) is of sufficiently good health and fitness to carry out the work safely; and

- (ii) is competent to undertake that work;

- (c) ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, rail safety workers do not carry out rail safety work in relation to the operator's railway operations, and are not on duty, while a prohibited drug, or a concentration of alcohol equal to or greater than the prescribed level, is present in their body;

Note for paragraph (c)

See section 68(4) for when alcohol at a certain concentration, or a prohibited drug, is taken to be present in a person's body.

- (d) ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, rail safety workers who perform rail safety work in relation to the operator's railway operations comply with the operator's program for fatigue management;

- (e) provide, so far as is reasonably practicable, adequate facilities for the safety of persons at any railway premises under the control or management of the operator;
 - (f) provide, so far as is reasonably practicable, the information and instruction to, and training and supervision of, rail safety workers as is necessary to enable the workers to perform rail safety work in relation to the operator's railway operations in a safe way;
 - (g) provide, so far as is reasonably practicable, the information to rail transport operators and other persons on railway premises under the control or management of the operator as is necessary to enable the persons to ensure their safety.
- (4) Without limiting subsection (1), a rail infrastructure manager contravenes the subsection if the operator does not do one or more of the following:
- (a) ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, any design, construction, commissioning, use, installation, modification, maintenance, repair, cleaning or decommissioning of the manager's rail infrastructure is done or carried out in a way that ensures the safety of railway operations;

The person:

- (a) intentionally engages in the conduct; and
- (b) is reckless as to whether the conduct would result in a risk to safety.

Maximum penalty: 400 penalty units or imprisonment for 2 years.

 - (b) has, in the course of that business, acquired an interest in the thing solely for the purpose of financing its acquisition by a customer from a third person or its provision to a customer by a third person; and
 - (c) has not taken possession of the thing or has taken possession of it solely for the purpose of passing possession to the customer;

the obligation under subsection (2) on the person who supplies the thing is instead taken to be an obligation on the third person.

- (a) to a rail safety worker, who is not a rail transport operator, carrying out rail safety work for or on behalf of a rail transport operator who is accredited under this Part in relation to that rail safety work; or
- (b) if an exemption under this Part or section 184 applies to the person or the rail transport operator for or on whose behalf the operations are carried out.

Example for subsection (2)

If a body corporate and related bodies corporate are involved, an exemption may be given so that only one of the bodies need be accredited (related, for bodies corporate, is dealt with in section 50 of the Corporations Act 2001).

25 Purpose for which accreditation may be granted

- (1) The Director may grant accreditation to a rail transport operator for one or more of the following purposes:

28 Director may direct applicants to coordinate applications

- (1) If the Director:
- (a) receives applications from 2 or more rail transport operators for accreditation; and
 - (b) believes that coordinated preparation of the applications is necessary to ensure the applicants' railway operations are carried out safely;

the Director may give a written direction to the operators to coordinate their applications.

- (2) The direction may require each of the rail transport operators to provide to each other operator information about any circumstances in relation to the carrying out of railway operations by the operator that could constitute a risk to the safety of the railway operations of another operator.
- (3) A rail transport operator given a direction under subsection (1) must comply with the direction.

Maximum penalty: 100 penalty units.

Division 2 Transitional matters for Rail Safety Act 2010

188 Definitions

In this Part:

repealed Act means the Northern Territory Rail Safety Act.

- (2) Each person who, immediately before the commencement, was an inspector under the repealed Act is taken to be appointed under section 177(1) as a rail safety officer.

190 Application for accreditation under repealed Act

If a person applied for accreditation under section 12 of the repealed Act (the section 12 application) and it was not granted or refused before the commencement, the section 12 application is to be dealt with as if it were an application for accreditation under section 26 in respect of the railway operations specified in the section 12 application.

191 Accreditation under repealed Act

- (1) If, immediately before the commencement, a person is an accredited person under the repealed Act as the owner or operator of a railway, the person is taken to be accredited under section 30 as a rail transport operator in relation to the same railway operations of that railway.
- (2) Conditions that applied to the accreditation as mentioned in section 20 of the repealed Act continue to apply to the accreditation under this Act as if imposed under this Act.

192 Refusal to grant accreditation under repealed Act

- (1) This section applies if a person had been notified of a refusal under section 16 of the repealed Act before the commencement and:
 - (a) the person had not applied for a review or appeal, and the period during which the person could apply for a review or appeal had not ended; or

- (b) the person had applied for a review or appeal, but the review or appeal had not been finalised.
- (2) If subsection (1)(a) applies, the person may apply for a review or appeal of the refusal under the repealed Act as if it had not been repealed.
- (3) If subsection (1)(b) applies, the review or appeal of the refusal is to be conducted, or continued, under the repealed Act as if it had not been repealed.
- (4) However, if an accreditation is ordered to be granted on a review or appeal under subsection (2), the accreditation is to be made under Part 3, Division 2.

193 Variation of accreditation

If a notice had been given to a person under section 22(2) of the repealed Act but, immediately before the commencement, the action specified in the notice had not been done, the notice is taken to have been given under section 42.

194 Variation, suspension and cancellation of accreditation

- (1) This section applies if, before the commencement, the Director:
 - (a) had given a notice under section 24(2) of the repealed Act to an accredited person about taking action under the section against the person; but
 - (b) had not taken the action or given notice to the person that the Director had decided not to take the action.
- (2) The Director must continue to deal with the matter as if the notice had been given under section 37(2) to the accredited person, including, for example, by treating any submissions made before the commencement as submissions made under this Act.

195 Immediate variation or suspension of accreditation

- (1) If a person's accreditation was varied or suspended under section 25 or 26 of the repealed Act and the variation or suspension was in existence at the commencement, the accreditation is taken to continue under this Act subject to the variation or suspension.
- (2) The period of the variation or suspension, as existing at the commencement, continues for the same period as if section 25 or 26 of the repealed Act had not been repealed, including any extension as mentioned in section 25(5)(b) of the repealed Act.

197 Directions under repealed Act for remedial safety work

- (1) This section applies if, before the commencement, the Director had given to an accredited person or the owner of a private siding a direction under section 42, 43, 44 or 45 of the repealed Act and the direction was in force at the commencement.
- (2) The direction has effect under this Act as if it were an improvement notice served on the accredited person or owner of a private siding under section 101 of this Act.

198 Power to require works to stop

- (1) This section applies if, before the commencement, the Director had given to a person a direction under section 46(2) or (4) of the repealed Act and the direction was in force at the commencement.
- (2) The direction has effect under this Act as if it were a prohibition notice served on the person under section 106 of this Act.
- (3) However, if the person had, before the commencement, committed an offence of failing to comply with the direction, proceedings may be brought against the person as if section 46 of the repealed Act had not been repealed.
- (4) In addition, if work required to be carried out under a direction under Part 4, Division 3 of the repealed Act had not been carried out before the commencement, the Director may carry out the work, and recover the cost of carrying out the work, under section 47 of the repealed Act as if that section had not been repealed.

199 Reports on notifiable occurrences

- (1) This section applies if, before the commencement, the Director had given to a person a direction under section 52 of the repealed Act and a report in accordance with the direction had not been made.

- (2) The direction has effect under this Act as if it were a notice given to the person under section 74(1) of this Act.

200 Investigation not completed

- (1) This section applies if, before the commencement, the Director had appointed an investigator to investigate and report on an accident or incident, and, at the commencement:
- (a) the investigation was not completed; or
 - (b) the investigation was completed but the investigator had not given his or her report to the Director and the Minister.
- (2) The investigator must complete the investigation and give the report to the Director and the Minister under Part 6, Division 1 of the repealed Act as if that Act had not been repealed.

201 Search warrant

- (1) This section applies if a search warrant had been issued under section 67 of the repealed Act and, at the commencement, the warrant had not been executed but was in force.
- (2) The warrant may be executed as if the repealed Act had not been repealed.
- (3) However, the warrant must be executed within 7 days after the issue of the warrant as if the warrant were issued under section 86.

202 Offences

If, before the commencement, a person engaged in conduct that constituted an offence against a provision of the repealed Act, the offence may be prosecuted, and a penalty may be imposed, as if the repealed Act had not been repealed.

203 Condition of accreditation or registration

If, before the commencement, a person engaged in conduct that constituted a contravention of a condition of accreditation or registration under the repealed Act, the person may be prosecuted for the contravention, and a penalty may be imposed, as if the repealed Act had not been repealed.

204 Seized things

A thing seized under the repealed Act that, before the commencement, had not been returned to its owner or another person or had not been forfeited to the Territory is taken to have been seized under Part 4, Division 4, and that Division and Part 4, Division 5 apply accordingly.

205 Non-disclosure of information

- (1) This section applies to a person who, in the course of the administration of the repealed Act, obtained information about a person's affairs.
- (2) If, after the commencement, the person discloses or communicates information mentioned in subsection (1), section 161 applies in relation to the disclosure or communication as if the information had been obtained in the administration of this Act.
