Part 2 Entitlements of Assembly members

3 Basic salary of Assembly members to be tied to annual rate of increases in pay of NTPS employees

- (1) An Assembly member is entitled to be paid a basic salary worked out under this section.

- (2) On and after 1 October 2009 until the date an entitlement takes effect under subsection (3), the basic salary is the amount worked out by increasing the pre-existing salary by 2.5%.
- (3) Subject to subsection (3A), the basic salary for each of the following periods is:
 - (a) on and after 19 August 2010 until 18 August 2011 – the amount worked out by increasing the existing basic salary as worked out under subsection (2) by 3%;
 - (b) on and after 19 August 2011 until 15 August 2012 – the amount worked out by increasing the existing basic salary as worked out under paragraph (a) by 3%;
 - (c) on and after 16 August 2012 until the date in 2013 that the first increase of the basic salary takes effect under subsection (4) – the amount worked out by increasing the existing basic salary as worked out under paragraph (b) by 3%.

Note for subsection (3)(a)

The existing basic salary as worked out under subsection (2) is the pre-existing salary increased by 2.5%. It is the result of that calculation to which the 3% increase would apply for the period 19 August 2010 until 18 August 2011.

- (3A) If an amount worked out for a period under subsection (3) would be more than the reduced MHR salary at the start of the period:
 - (a) the amount of the basic salary for that period is to be decreased to the reduced MHR salary; and
 - (b) the amount of the reduced MHR salary, as mentioned in paragraph (a), is taken to have been worked out under the relevant paragraph of subsection (3).
- (4) On and after the date an increase in the pay of NTPS employees takes effect under a prescribed agreement in an agreement year until the date an increase in the pay of NTPS employees takes effect under a prescribed agreement in the immediately following agreement year, the basic salary is:
 - (a) the amount worked out by increasing the existing basic salary by the annual rate for the agreement year; or
 - (b) if the amount worked out under paragraph (a) is more than the reduced MHR salary at the time the amount is worked out – the amount worked out by decreasing the amount worked out under paragraph (a) to the reduced MHR salary.

(5) In this section:

agreement year means 2013 or a calendar year after 2013.

basic salary means the salary of an Assembly member, but does not include any additional salary for the member, including, for example, additional salary as a Minister.

existing basic salary, for working out an entitlement under this section, means the basic salary to which an Assembly member is entitled under this section immediately before the date the increase, that is being worked out, is to take effect.

pre-existing salary means the basic salary to which an Assembly member is entitled under this Act on 30 September 2009.

reduced MHR salary means the annual rate of salary for a member of the House of Representative (not including any additional salary for the member, including, for example, additional salary as Minister) as reduced by $3 000.

3A Additional salary of office to be tied to annual rate of increase in pay of NTPS employees

(1) For any period during the 2011 calendar year after the commencement of this section that an Assembly member holds or occupies a prescribed office mentioned in Schedule 2 as in force on the commencement, the Assembly member is entitled to an additional salary of office worked out by:

- (a) increasing the annual amount of the additional salary of office for the prescribed office, under the 2009 Tribunal determination, by 3%; and
- (b) apportioning the resultant amount worked out under paragraph (a) to the period that the Assembly member holds or occupies the prescribed office.

Note for subsection (1)

Section 31 deals with entitlements relevant to the application of subsection (1).

(2) For any period during a calendar year after the 2011 calendar year that an Assembly member holds or occupies a prescribed office, the Assembly member is entitled to an additional salary of office worked out by:

- (a) increasing the annual amount of the additional salary of office for the prescribed office for the immediately preceding calendar year by the annual rate applicable to the pay of NTPS employees, as stated in a prescribed agreement, in relation to that immediately preceding calendar year; and

- (b) apportioning the resultant amount worked out under paragraph (a) to the period that the Assembly member holds or occupies the prescribed office.
- (3) If, during any period, an Assembly member holds or occupies 2 or more prescribed offices:
- (a) the Assembly member is only entitled to an additional salary of office for holding or occupying a single prescribed office; and
 - (b) the entitlement is for the prescribed office that yields the greater or greatest amount payable to the Assembly member for the period.
- (4) The Administrator may, by regulation, amend Schedule 2 by inserting an office if the Administrator considers the office performs a specified function for the Assembly or is an office mentioned in a determination under section 4(1) because of section 4(1)(c)(iii).
- (5) If Schedule 2 is amended as mentioned in subsection (4):
- (a) the Administrator must (also by regulation) declare the annual amount of the additional salary of office for the prescribed office for the calendar year in which it was inserted into Schedule 2; and
 - (b) subsection (2) first applies in relation to the prescribed office in the calendar year immediately after the calendar year in which it was inserted into Schedule 2; and
 - (c) section 43 of the Interpretation Act does not apply in relation to the exercise of power under subsection (4).

Note for paragraph (c)

If a specified office is inserted into Schedule 2, the office cannot be omitted by a further amendment of the regulations but may be omitted by an Act.

- (6) In this section:

2009 Tribunal determination means the Determination of Entitlements of Assembly Members determined by the Tribunal on 30 October 2009.

Note for definition 2009 Tribunal determination

The 2009 Tribunal determination forms part of the Tribunal's Report on the Entitlements of Assembly Members and is also referred to as Determination No 1 of 2009.

additional salary of office means an entitlement for an Assembly member to be paid an amount in addition to basic salary because the Assembly member holds or occupies a prescribed office.

prescribed office means an office mentioned in Schedule 2, including Schedule 2 as amended by regulation as mentioned in subsection (4).

4 Tribunal's powers except for basic salary or additional salary of office

9 Administrator's power

- (1) The Administrator may determine the classification structure for statutory bodies (whether or not as a result of an inquiry under section 8).
- (2) In providing for an entitlement in relation to a class of statutory bodies, the determination may:
 - (a) specify the amount of the entitlement; or
 - (b) specify a range of amounts from which the amount of the entitlement for a particular statutory body must be decided by a responsible Minister under section 10(1)(b).
- (3) The determination may apply, adopt or incorporate the whole or part of a document as in force or existing at a particular time or from time to time.

- (4) The determination does not have effect in relation to a statutory body until a decision under section 10(1) for that body takes effect.

Note for subsection (4)

See section 10A.

10 Responsible Minister's power

- (1) The responsible Minister for a statutory body may, in accordance with the classification determination, decide:

- (3) The responsible Minister must notify the Minister administering this Act of each decision under subsection (1) as soon as practicable after the decision is made.
- (4) This section has effect subject to the law establishing the statutory body.

10A Decision under section 10 to continue in some circumstances

- (1) The purpose of this section is to provide for what happens in relation to a statutory body if:
- (a) a classification determination (applying determination) has effect in relation to the body as mentioned in section 9(4) because a decision, that applies to the body, has taken effect under section 10 (applying decision); and
 - (b) after the applying determination has effect in relation to the body, it is amended by a further classification determination or replaced by another classification determination (the result of either the amendment or the replacement being a new determination).

- (2) Subject to subsection (3), after the new determination is made but until it takes effect in relation to the statutory body as mentioned in section 9(4), both the applying determination and applying decision continue to have effect in relation to the body.
- (3) If the new determination increases the amount of the entitlement as mentioned in section 9(2)(a) for the class of statutory bodies to which the statutory body belongs under the applying decision, the change of the amount (as specified in the new determination) takes effect in relation to the body on the starting date for the new determination despite section 9(4).
- (4) For subsection (3), the starting date, for a new determination, is:
 - (a) the date specified in the new determination as the date the new determination is to start operating in relation to statutory bodies that are already the subject of an applying decision; or
 - (b) if no date is specified under paragraph (a) – the date the new determination is made.
