Part 2 Fees

5 Prescription of fees

The fee to be paid for or in relation to a matter under the Act described in column 1 of Schedule 1 is the fee specified opposite in column 2 of that Schedule.

- (2) If an annual fee is due and payable by an accredited person on 1 September 2002 and the amount of the annual fee payable by the accredited person is to be determined as specified in item 1(a) or (d) of Schedule 2, it is calculated as an estimate based on the train kilometres the accredited person estimates will be travelled during that year by trains along the railway track in respect of which the accredited person is accredited.
- (3) If an annual fee is payable by a person who becomes accredited during a year, and the fee is to be determined as specified in Schedule 2, item 1(a) or (d), the fee must be calculated on the basis of the train kilometres the person estimates will be travelled during the part of the year for which the person will be an accredited person by trains along the railway track for which the person has become accredited.

Division 2 Testing

33 Inspector may test breath of railway employee

- (1) For ascertaining whether a railway employee carrying out, or about to carry out, railway safety work is under the influence of alcohol or a drug, an authorised inspector may, subject to subregulation (4), require the employee to submit to:
 - (a) a breath test; or
 - (b) a breath analysis.
- (2) The authorised inspector may require a railway employee to submit to a breath test or breath analysis to test whether the employee is carrying out or is about to carry out railway safety work under the influence of alcohol on a random basis and without suspecting, on reasonable grounds, the employee is doing so under the influence of alcohol.
- (3) The authorised inspector may require a railway employee to submit to testing by a breath test or breath analysis on a non-random basis if the authorised inspector suspects, on reasonable grounds, the employee is carrying out or is about to carry out railway safety work while under the influence of alcohol.
- (4) The authorised inspector may require a railway employee to submit to a breath test to test whether the employee is carrying out or about to carry out railway safety work under the influence of a drug only if the authorised inspector suspects, on reasonable grounds, the employee is doing so under the influence of a drug.

34 Circumstances when inspector able to require provision of sample of blood or urine

- (1) If the railway employee who is required to submit to a breath test or a breath analysis under regulation 33 refuses or fails to do so, the authorised inspector may require the employee to provide a sample of his or her blood or urine.

- (2) If the authorised inspector tests by a breath test and the results of the test lead the authorised inspector to believe that the employee may be under the influence of alcohol or a drug, the inspector must require the employee to:
 - (a) submit to a breath analysis; or
 - (b) provide a sample of his or her blood or urine.
- (3) If the authorised inspector tests by a breath analysis and the results of the test lead the authorised inspector to believe that the employee may be under the influence of alcohol, the authorised inspector may require the employee to provide a sample of his or her blood or urine.
- (4) The authorised inspector may require the employee to provide a sample of his or her urine for testing if:
 - (a) the authorised inspector suspects, on reasonable grounds, the employee is under the influence of a drug; or
 - (b) an event or condition resulting from railway ownership or operations has or might have caused a fatality or an injury to a person or damage to property or the environment.

35 Railway employee may request blood or urine testing in place of breath test

A railway employee who refuses or fails to submit to testing under regulation 33 because of a medical or physical condition may request that a sample of his or her blood or urine be taken instead.

36 Procedure after test by breath analysis indicates railway employee under influence of alcohol

- (1) If an analysis of breath by a breath analysis instrument indicates that a railway employee is under the influence of alcohol, the authorised inspector who operated the instrument must immediately give to the employee a written statement specifying:
 - (a) the date the sample of breath was taken and analysed;
 - (b) the time of the analysis of the breath; and
 - (c) the results of the analysis.
- (2) The employee may, after the analysis, request that a sample of his or her blood or urine be taken.

37 Taking sample of blood or urine

- (1) If the authorised inspector requires a railway employee to provide a sample of his or her blood or urine under regulation 34 or, under regulation 35 or 36(2), a railway employee requests a sample of his or her blood or urine be taken, the inspector must take the action that is necessary and reasonable for a health practitioner to take a blood or urine sample from the employee.
- (2) Subject to subregulation (3), the health practitioner must be either nominated by the employee or nominated by the authorised inspector and accepted by the employee.
- (3) Subregulation (2) does not apply if:
 - (a) the employee does not nominate a health practitioner;
 - (b) the health practitioner nominated by the authorised inspector is not accepted by the employee; or
 - (c) the health practitioner nominated or accepted by the employee is not available to take the sample within one hour after the employee was required to provide the sample or requested the sample be taken at a place and at a place within 10 kilometres of the place where the employee was required to provide the sample or made the request for the sample to be taken.
- (4) If subregulation (2) does not apply, the health practitioner who takes the sample may be any health practitioner who is available.
- (5) The authorised inspector must be present when the health practitioner takes the sample from the employee.

38 Procedures relating to blood and urine tests – health practitioners

- (1) The health practitioner who takes a sample of blood or urine from a railway employee must divide the sample into 2 approximately equal portions and place each portion into separate containers, seal the containers and mark them with the sample's identification number.
- (2) On complying with subregulation (1), the health practitioner must sign a certificate specifying the following information:
 - (a) the identification number marked on the containers;
 - (b) the name and address of the employee from whom the sample was taken;

- (c) the name and qualifications of the health practitioner;
 - (d) the date and time when, and place where, the sample was taken.
- (3) The health practitioner must then:
- (a) make one of the containers and the certificate available to the authorised inspector (who must give it to or retain it on behalf of the Director); and
 - (b) give the other container to the employee or the employee's representative or retain it on behalf of the employee.

39 Procedures relating to blood and urine tests – analysts

- (1) On completing the analysis of a sample, the analyst who performed or supervised the analysis must sign a certificate specifying the following information:
- (a) the identification number marked on the container of the sample;
 - (b) the name and qualifications of the analyst;
 - (c) the date the sample was received in the laboratory where the analysis was performed;
 - (d) the concentration of alcohol or drug found present in the sample;
 - (e) if a drug is found in the sample – the type of drug;
 - (f) any factors relating to the sample or analysis that might, in the opinion of the analyst, adversely affect the accuracy or validity of the analysis;
 - (g) any other information relating to the sample or analysis the analyst considers appropriate.
- (2) The certificate of the analyst under subregulation (1) must be given to, or retained on behalf of, the Director.
- (3) A copy of the certificate must be made available to the health practitioner and the railway employee.

Division 3 Offences

40 Compliance with requirement to submit to test or give sample

- (1) Subregulations (2) and (3) apply to a railway employee who an authorised inspector requires under this Part to submit to a breath test or breath analysis.
- (2) The employee must not refuse or fail to comply with:
 - (a) the requirement; or
 - (b) the inspector's reasonable directions for carrying out the breath test or breath analysis.

Penalty: 25 penalty units.

- (3) The employee must provide a sample of his or her breath that is sufficient to complete the breath test or breath analysis.

Penalty: 25 penalty units.

- (4) A railway employee who is required under this Part to provide a sample of his or her blood or urine must submit to the procedures necessary to provide the sample in accordance with this Part.

Penalty: 25 penalty units.

- (5) It is a defence to a prosecution for an offence against this regulation that:

- (a) the requirement or direction to which the offence relates was not lawfully made; or
- (b) subject to subregulation (6) – the employee had good cause to refuse or fail to comply with the requirement or direction.

- (6) The employee may not raise the defence that he or she had good cause to refuse or fail to comply with a requirement or direction because of his or her physical or medical condition unless:

- (a) a sample of the employee's blood or urine was taken in accordance with regulation 34;
- (b) the employee requested that a sample of his or her blood or urine be taken under regulation 35 but the authorised inspector failed to facilitate the taking of the sample or a health practitioner was not reasonably available to take the sample; or

- (c) because of the employee's physical or medical condition, it was not possible or reasonably advisable or practicable in the circumstances to take the sample.

41 Alteration of concentration of alcohol or drug in blood

A person must not do anything to introduce, or alter the concentration of, alcohol or a drug in the person's blood or urine before submitting to a breath analysis, or providing a sample of blood or urine for analysis, to prevent or restrict the use of the results of the analysis in proceedings.

Penalty: 25 penalty units.

Division 4 Evidence

42 Presumption as to concentration of alcohol in blood

- (1) If the requirements of this Part relating to breath analysis instruments and the analysis of samples of breath are complied with, it is presumed in proceedings under the Act that a concentration of alcohol indicated as being present in the blood of a person by a breath analysis instrument was present in the blood of the person at the time of analysis and throughout the preceding period of 2 hours.
- (2) The presumption cannot be rebutted unless it is proved on the balance of probabilities that the concentration of alcohol present in the blood of the person was not as indicated by the breath analysis instrument by the following evidence:
 - (a) evidence of the analysis of a sample of the person's blood taken and dealt with in accordance with this Part;
 - (b) evidence that the results of analysis of a sample of the person's blood demonstrate that the breath analysis instrument gave an exaggerated reading of the concentration of alcohol present in the person's blood.

43 Certificates as evidence

- (1) The following documents are admissible in proceedings relating to an offence against the Act or these Regulations as evidence of the matters stated in them and of the facts on which they are based:
 - (a) a document purporting to be signed by the Director certifying that a person named in the certificate is an authorised inspector who is authorised under regulation 45 to carry out breath analyses;

- (b) a document purporting to be signed by an authorised inspector certifying that:
 - (i) the apparatus used by the authorised inspector was a breath analysis instrument;
 - (ii) the breath analysis instrument was in proper order and properly operated; or
 - (iii) the breath analysis instrument was used in a manner that complied with this Part;
 - (c) a document purporting to be signed by the Director certifying that the apparatus specified in the certificate is or was at a specified time a breath analysis instrument;
 - (d) subject to subregulation (2) – a document purporting to be signed by an authorised inspector certifying that –
 - (i) a sample of the breath of a person named in the certificate was provided for analysis using a breath analysing instrument;
 - (ii) a concentration of alcohol expressed in grams in 100 millilitres was indicated by the breath analysing instrument as being present in the blood of the person on the day and at the time specified in the certificate; and
 - (iii) a written statement was given to the person under regulation 36(1).
- (2) A certificate referred to in subregulation (1)(d) cannot be received as evidence in proceedings for an offence against the Act or these Regulations:
- (a) unless a copy of the certificate is served on the person it refers to not less than 7 days before the commencement of the proceedings;
 - (b) if the person referred to in the certificate has, not less than 2 days before the commencement of the trial, served written notice on the court requiring the attendance at the trial of the person who signed the certificate; or
 - (c) if the court requires the person who signed the certificate to attend at the trial.

44 Presumptions as to certificates

- (1) Subject to subregulation (2), in proceedings for an offence against the Act or these Regulations, it is presumed unless the contrary is proved on the balance of probabilities that:
 - (a) an apparently genuine document purporting to be a certificate, or a copy of a certificate, of a health practitioner or analyst under this Part received in evidence is a certificate of the health practitioner or analyst as to the matters stated in the certificate;
 - (b) if a document purporting to be a certificate of a health practitioner and a document purporting to be a certificate of an analyst specify the same identification number for the sample of blood or urine to which each relates are received in evidence – the certificates relate to the same sample of blood or urine; and
 - (c) if a document purporting to be a certificate of an analyst is received in evidence:
 - (i) the concentration of alcohol or drug stated in the certificate as having been found to be present in the sample of blood or urine to which the certificate relates was present in the sample when the sample was taken and throughout the preceding 2 hours; or
 - (ii) the type of drug stated in the certificate as having been found to be present in the sample of blood or urine was the type of drug present in the sample of blood or urine.
- (2) A certificate referred to in subregulation (1) cannot be received as evidence in proceedings for an offence against the Act or these Regulations:
 - (a) unless a copy of the certificate is served on the person it refers to not less than 7 days before the commencement of the proceedings;
 - (b) if the person referred to in the certificate has, not less than 2 days before the commencement of the trial, served written notice on the court requiring the attendance at the trial of the person who signed the certificate; or
 - (c) if the court requires the person who signed the certificate to attend at the trial.

49 Duty of health practitioner who takes sample

It is the duty of the health practitioner who takes a sample of a railway employee's blood or urine to take the measures that are reasonably practicable in the circumstances to ensure the sample is not adulterated and does not deteriorate to prevent a proper assessment of the concentration of alcohol or a drug present in the blood or urine of the employee.
