Part 2 Principles of environment protection and management

Division 1 Principles of ecologically sustainable development

17 Principles of ecologically sustainable development

- (1) This Division sets out the principles of ecologically sustainable development.
- (2) A decision-maker must consider and apply these principles in making a decision under this Act.
- (3) In making a decision under this Act and stating the reasons for that decision, a decision-maker is not required to specify how the decision-maker has considered or applied these principles.

18 Decision-making principle

- (1) Decision-making processes should effectively integrate both long-term and short-term environmental and equitable considerations.
- (2) Decision-making processes should provide for community involvement in relation to decisions and actions that affect the community.

Note for section 18

See section 6, definition environment.

18A Principle of proportionality

Decision-making processes should ensure that decisions or actions directed at minimising harm or a risk of harm or impact to the environment are proportionate to the harm or risk of harm or impact that is being addressed.

19 Precautionary principle

- (1) If there are threats of serious or irreversible environmental damage, lack of full scientific certainty should not be used as a reason for postponing measures to prevent environmental degradation.
- (2) Decision-making should be guided by:
 - (a) a careful evaluation to avoid serious or irreversible damage to the environment wherever practicable; and
 - (b) an assessment of the risk-weighted consequences of various options.

20 Principle of evidence-based decision-making

Decisions should be based on the best available evidence in the circumstances that is relevant and reliable.

21 Principle of intergenerational and intragenerational equity

The present generation should ensure that the health, diversity and productivity of the environment is maintained or enhanced for the benefit of present and future generations.

22 Principle of sustainable use

Natural resources should be used in a manner that is sustainable, prudent, rational, wise and appropriate.

23 Principle of conservation of biological diversity and ecological integrity

Biological diversity and ecological integrity should be conserved and maintained.

24 Principle of improved valuation, pricing and incentive mechanisms

- (1) Environmental factors should be included in the valuation of assets and services.
- (2) Persons who generate pollution and waste should bear the cost of containment, avoidance and abatement.
- (3) Users of goods and services should pay prices based on the full life cycle costs of providing the goods and services, including costs relating to the use of natural resources and the ultimate disposal of wastes.
- (4) Established environmental goals should be pursued in the most cost-effective way by establishing incentive structures, including market mechanisms, which enable persons best placed to maximise benefits or minimise costs to develop solutions and responses to environmental problems.

Division 2 Management hierarchies

25 Hierarchies

This Division sets out hierarchies for environmental decision-making and waste management.

26 Environmental decision-making hierarchy

- (1) In making decisions in relation to actions that affect the environment, decision-makers, proponents and approval holders must apply the following hierarchy of approaches in order of priority:

 - (b) identify management options to mitigate adverse impacts on the environment to the greatest extent practicable;
 - (c) if appropriate, provide for environmental offsets in accordance with this Act for residual adverse impacts on the environment that cannot be avoided or mitigated.

- (2) In making decisions in relation to actions that affect the environment, decision-makers, proponents and approval holders must ensure that the potential for actions to enhance or restore environmental quality is identified and provided for to the extent practicable.

27 Waste management hierarchy

- (1) In designing, implementing and managing an action, all reasonable and practicable measures should be taken to minimise the generation of waste and its discharge into the environment.
- (2) For subsection (1), waste should be managed in accordance with the following hierarchy of approaches in order of priority:

- (c) whether there is a need to deter cumulative impacts of conduct of this kind by the offender and others;
- (d) the extent of any efforts by the offender to minimise or remediate the environmental harm;

- (e) the extent to which the offender made efforts to comply with the environmental approval;
- (f) any history of non-compliance by the offender with this Act;
- (g) whether there was deliberate concealment of the conduct or of the illegal nature of the conduct;
- (h) any other matters the court considers relevant.

 - (d) an order directing the offender to pay an amount in compensation to any person who has suffered loss or damage as a result of the commission of the offence;
