10 Probation and parole officers

- (1) A person appointed as a probation and parole officer under the Correctional Services Act is a probation and parole officer for this Act.
- (2) The Commissioner is also a probation and parole officer for this Act.
- (3) The functions of a probation and parole officer include the following:
  - (a) preparing reports for the Court as required;

- (b) supervising youths who are the subject of supervision under a non-custodial order;
  - (c) monitoring the compliance of a youth who is the subject of an alternative detention order with the terms and conditions of the order;
  - (d) other duties as directed by the Commissioner.
- (4) A probation and parole officer may, at any time and without a warrant, enter premises or a place in or at which a youth is, in accordance with an alternative detention order, residing and:
- (a) search those premises or any building at that place, or the youth, for the purposes of determining whether the youth is in breach of the order; or
  - (b) place, install, inspect or retrieve a monitoring device in or at those premises or that place.
- (5) A probation and parole officer may, at any time, require a youth who is the subject of an alternative detention order to undergo such tests as the probation and parole officer considers appropriate to determine whether the youth is in breach of the order.

49 Section 154 replaced

Section 154

repeal, insert

154 Use of custodial correctional facility to temporarily accommodate detainees

- (1) This section applies if the superintendent of a detention centre considers it necessary to accommodate a detainee at a custodial correctional facility.

2 In order to maintain order at the detention centre.

- (2) The superintendent of the detention centre may request the Commissioner to accommodate the detainee at a custodial correctional facility for a maximum period of 72 hours.
- (3) If necessary, the superintendent can apply to a magistrate for an order to extend the maximum period to 10 days.

- (4) If the Commissioner agrees to accommodate the detainee at a custodial correctional facility, this Act applies:
- (a) to the detainee as if he or she were a detainee at a detention centre; and
  - (b) to the General Manager of the custodial correctional facility as if he or she were the superintendent of a detention centre; and
  - (c) to the correctional officers employed at the custodial correctional facility as if they were members of the staff of a detention centre.
- (5) A detainee accommodated in a custodial correctional facility must be kept separate from all prisoners at the facility, including youth prisoners.
- (6) Unless there is no practical alternative, detainees under the age of 15 years must not be accommodated in a custodial correctional facility.
