(9) Unless the contrary is established, a disease is taken to have been contracted by a worker in the course of his or her employment as a fire-fighter, and the employment is taken to have materially contributed to the worker's contraction of the disease, if:

(a) the disease is a disease, or a disease of a kind, specified in Column 1 of Schedule 1AA; and

- (b) the worker:
- (i) was, before he or she became aware of his or her contraction of the disease, employed as a fire-fighter for the qualifying period specified for the disease in Column 2 of Schedule 1AA; or
 - (ii) died without having become so aware but was, before he or she died, employed as a fire-fighter for the qualifying period specified for the disease in Column 2 of Schedule 1AA; and
- (d) the worker was, during the course of his or her employment as a fire-fighter, exposed to the hazards of a fire scene.
- (10) In determining a period of employment under subsection (9)(c), all periods of employment of a worker as a fire-fighter are to be combined.
- (11) For this section:
- (a) a reference to employment as a fire-fighter includes a reference to a period of engagement as any of the following:
 - (i) a volunteer member;
 - (ii) a bushfire brigade volunteer; and
 - (b) a reference to a period of employment of a worker as a fire-fighter, as it relates to a volunteer member or bushfire brigade volunteer, includes a reference to a period:
 - (i) starting on the first day on which the worker is a volunteer member or bushfire brigade volunteer; and
 - (ii) ending on the last day, before the worker becomes aware of his or her contraction of a disease to which subsection (9) relates, on which the worker is a volunteer member or bushfire brigade volunteer.
- (12) In this section:

bushfire brigade volunteer means a person who, without remuneration or reward, volunteers with the consent of or under the authority and supervision of, or in cooperation with, a volunteer fire brigade established under the Bushfires Act.

fire-fighter means a member, or bushfire brigade volunteer, whose duties include fire-fighting operations or fire prevention operations.
